NURSING BOARD In the Lodges

East Moline Service As An Infant Organization Accomplishes Much in 1918.

With the East Moline community nursing service practically in ts infancy, work that it accomplished during the year of 1918 is remarkable. The organization has shown a rapid growth in the two years it has been in existence. The increased development and growth of East Moline has had a marked effect upon the nursing service. The source of calls as well as the Third annual memorial services additional new families and the many office conferences indicate of Eagles of Moline, Rock Island, the continued need of the service. Since the beginning of the service there has been one problem confronting the service board. The system of fees has confused both patients and nurses. The various Dacbelliehn, appointed officer. nursing organizations have proven in past experiences that the work based wholly upon a free service purposes of its existence and had as a result established a system of fees. It is not a service for the strictly poor, but for those needing nursing care who do not need, c. E or cannot afford, the services of a ville full time nurse. Many patients do not want the services unless they can pay for the same; others make unreasonable demands upon it because it is free service, resulting strand unsatisfactorily for future service Rev.
